SINGAPORE, 26 October 2026 – Team Singapore concluded its participation at the Aichi-Nagoya 2026 Asian Para Games in Japan with a record 11-medal haul, comprising six silver and five bronze medals, alongside eight national records. The 20-athlete contingent competed across eight sports from 18 to 24 October 2026, surpassing Singapore's eight-medal tally at the previous Hangzhou 2022 Asian Para Games.

Led by Chef de Mission Mr Low See Lien, the contingent comprised eight debutants alongside experienced Paralympians and returning Asian Para Games athletes. Team Singapore secured podium finishes across four sports – Boccia, Para Archery, Para Cycling (Road) and Para Swimming alongside personal bests and encouraging performances against Asia's best.

Para swimmer Mr Toh Wei Soong emerged as Singapore's most bemedalled athlete at Aichi-Nagoya 2026, securing two silver and three bronze medals across five events, bringing his overall Asian Para Games medal tally to 12.

Boccia also delivered a strong showing with four medals – three silver and one bronze, marking the sport's return to the podium since the 2018 edition. Mr Jovin Tan and Mr Aloysius Gan secured silver medals in the Men's Individual BC1 and BC3 events respectively, while Ms Jeralyn Tan clinched bronze in the Women's Individual BC1 event. Mr Gan partnered Ms Nurulasyiqah Mohamad Taha to secure another silver in the Mixed Pairs BC3 event, with all four boccia athletes returning home with medals.

In Para Archery, Ms Nur Syahidah Alim secured her second consecutive Asian Para Games silver medal in the Women's Individual Compound Open event. Meanwhile, debutant Ms Tan Cheng Jui and her pilot Ms Sarah Tan clinched bronze in the Women's B Time Trial in Para Cycling (Road), before finishing fourth in the Road Race.

Beyond the podium, Team Singapore recorded eight national records across Para Swimming and Shooting Para Sport. Team Singapore flagbearer Mr James Ethan Ang Kai Meng also delivered a strong performance, finishing fourth in the Men's 400m T13 Final.

Reflecting on the contingent's performance, Mr Low, who is also the Vice President of SNPC, said:

“Behind every medal, national record and personal best is an athlete who has worked tirelessly to represent Singapore. While we celebrate our podium finishes, we must also recognise those who have challenged themselves, reached finals and given everything they had against Asia's best. Their contributions are no less important to Team Singapore.”

“With eight debutants competing alongside our experienced athletes, these Games have given us much to build on. What matters now is how we use this experience to help our athletes develop further and compete more strongly on the international stage.”

Team Singapore's return on Monday, 26 October 2026, will be marked by a Welcome Back Ceremony at Changi Airport Arrival Hall at 4.15pm. Mr David Neo, Minister for Culture, Community and Youth & Second Minister for Education, will join families and supporters in welcoming the contingent home and recognising the efforts and achievements of Singapore's para athletes at the Games.
